

The Extraordinary Global Leadership Journey

An immersive experience for executives and teams who deeply connect, share a peak lifetime experience and make a difference in Kenya.

Find yourself in poor Kenyan schools

Working at urban and rural schools , like the Kibera Girls Soccer Academy near Nairobi, above, where we are co-forming a basic business academy

You will lead schoolchildren

In classrooms and/or outside assemblies, like here at Kibiko School, west of Nairobi. How will you inspire the next generation?

Mentor potential entrepreneurs

You will work with them as they explain their start-up plans. What value will you add while you are with them and afterwards?

Meet inspirational local leaders

People who are making a difference in really difficult conditions.
Leading and building teams: what will you learn from them?

You will be coached all the way

To help you deepen your connection with self, others and world, reviewing progress over at dinners at the Wildebeest Eco- Camp

Being a more amazing team

This series of extraordinary experiences creates strong bonds within the group on the bus and beyond.

Time to teach the teachers

You will connect with teachers, understand their challenging lives, and discover what you can bring to the moment.

Connect with people in great difficulty

HIV mothers are struggling but we can engage with them, sharing the task of making beads at Wesa4Life in Kibera.

How will you connect?

You will work in extraordinary environments and discover how you can be six days in Africa plus preparation and follow up.

What difference will you make?

Will you will start or build a project? Journeymers have set up charities like WellBoring that provides schools with wells like this one.

If not you, who? If not now, when?

Journeys include the featured Kibera Girls Soccer Academy, Kibiko School and Wesa4Life but circumstances can change at these live institutions. The next Journey is 13-19 Jan. Check availability via info@xleadership.com

Projects range from wells to ongoing mentoring. What do you imagine?

Do tell us about the team you'd like to take on a journey of transformation.
